Padme Saxhmines

The word piadine (pyah-DEE-nah) is derived from piadena, which is a wide bowl or flat vase. Piadine are thin, pliable, Italian flatbreads grilled on a testo (a black cast-iron pan). Made popular in Romagna, the piadine is versatile and can be served as a sandwich, a calzone or another specialty. It is typically stuffed with meats, cheeses, vegetables, or salads. The piadine is commonly folded in half and eaten like a taco.
